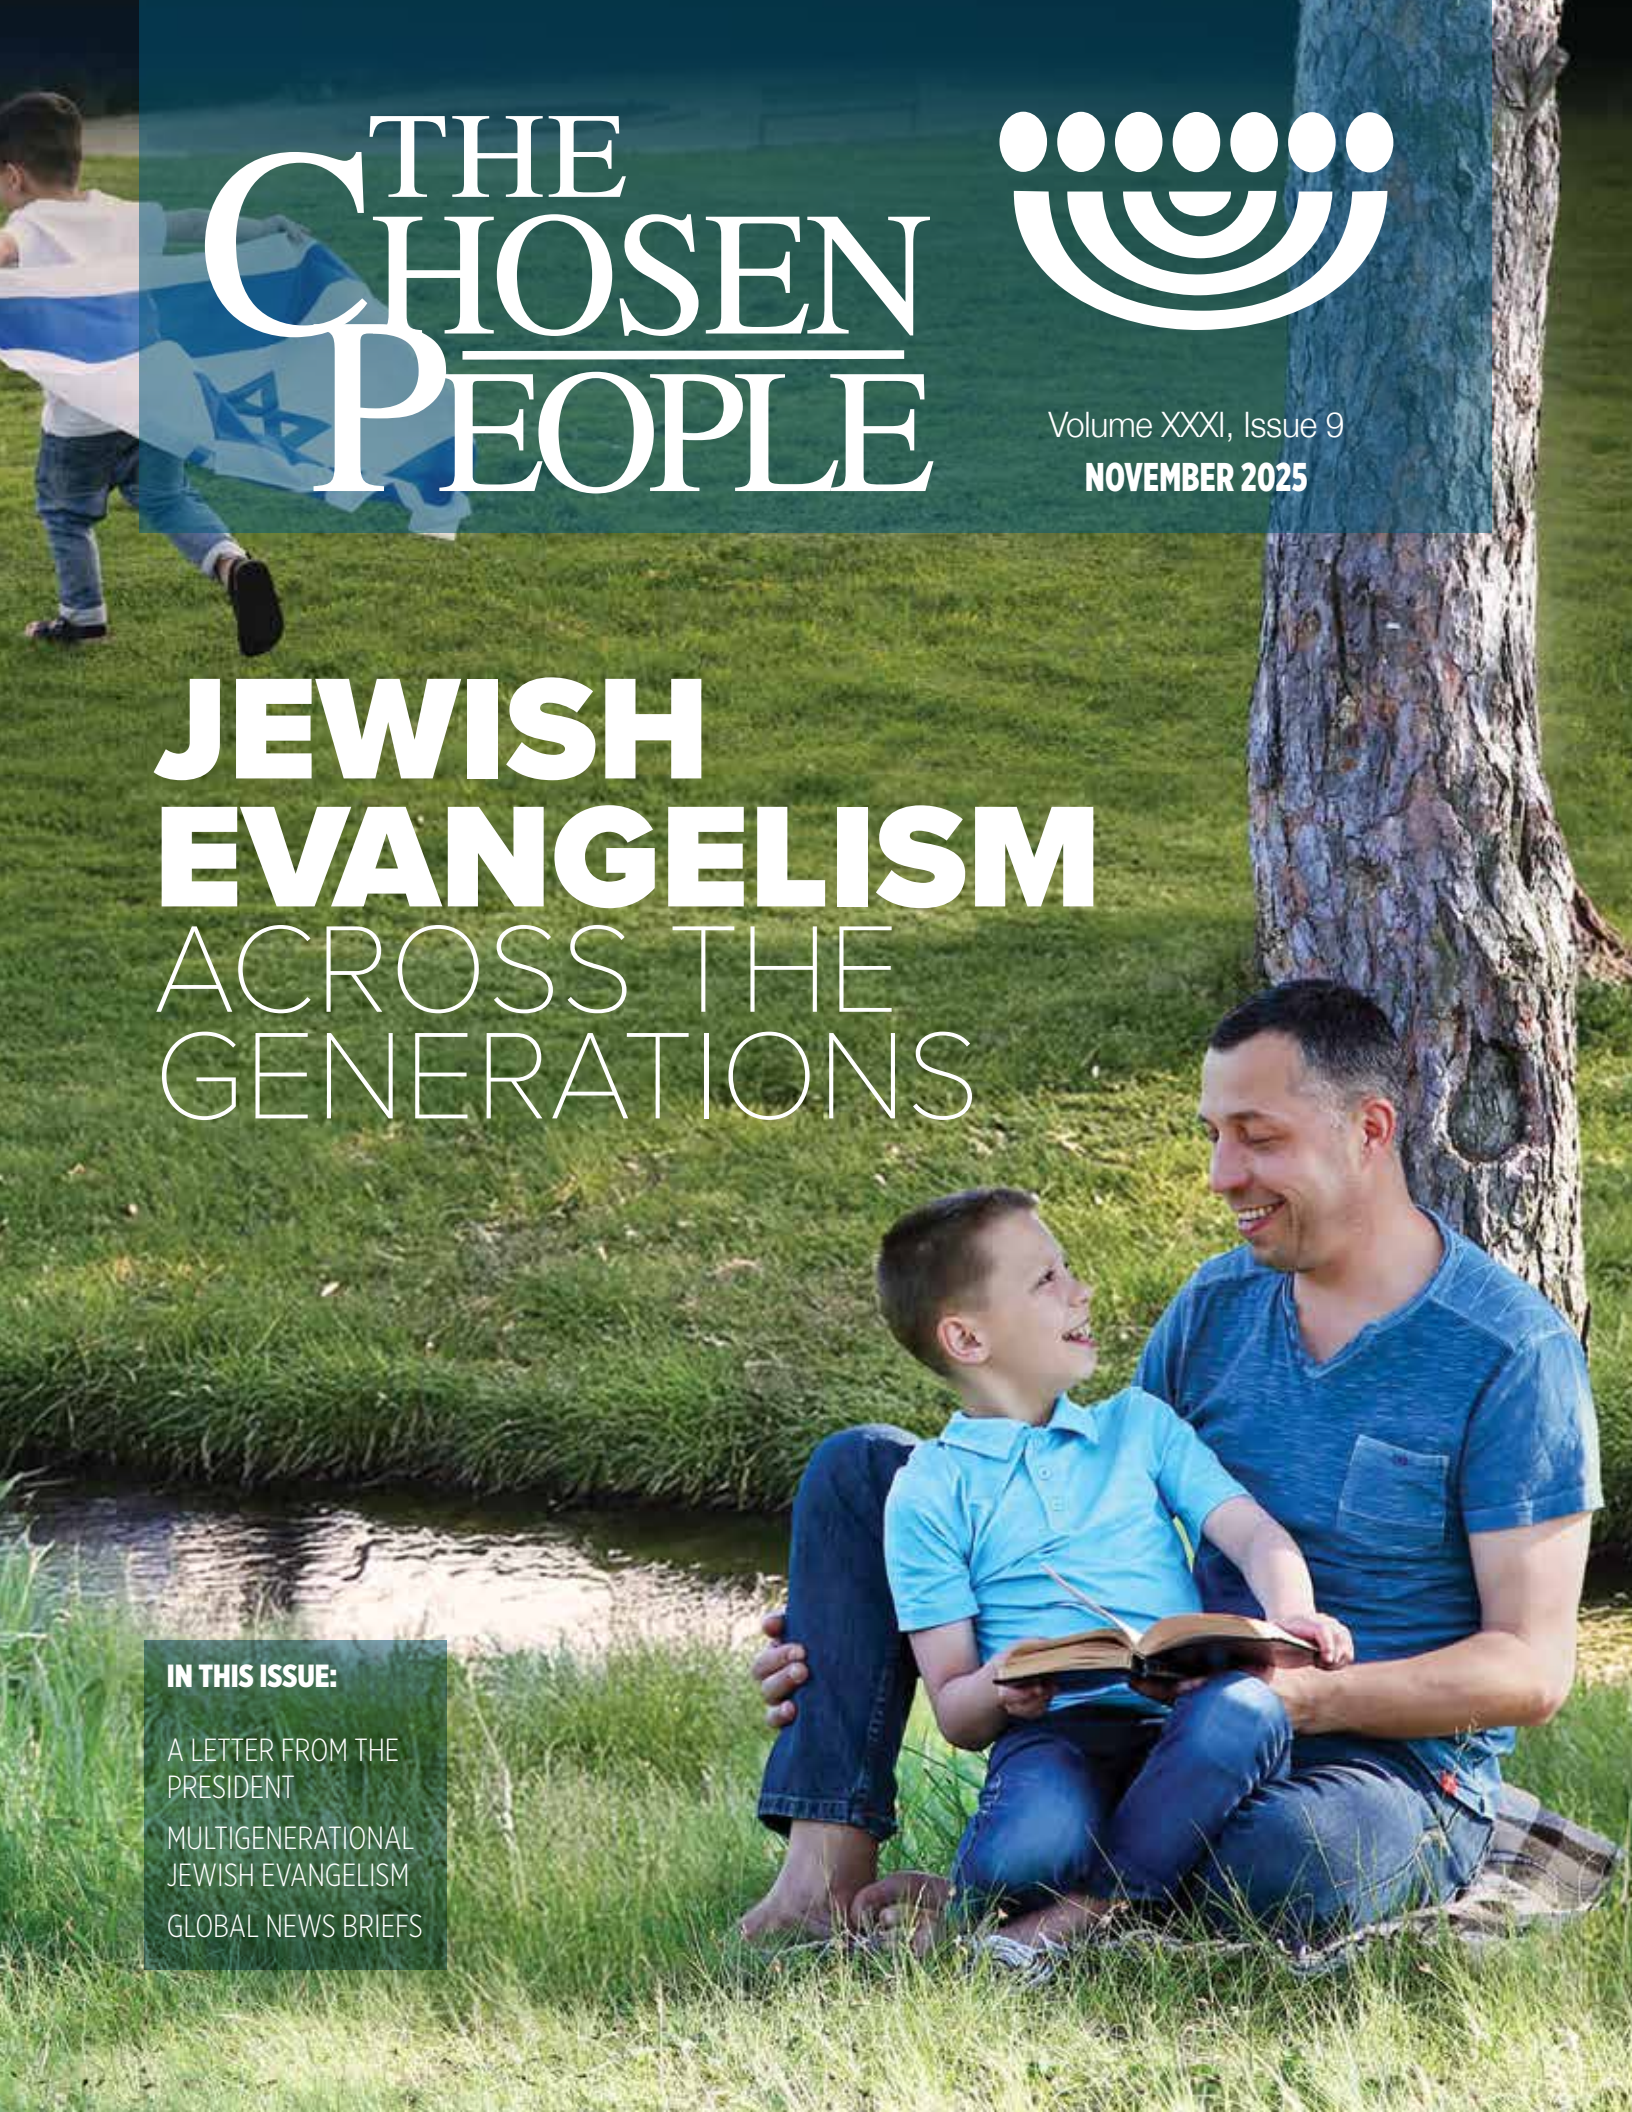
JEWISH EVANGELISM ACROSS THE GENERATIONS



IN THIS ISSUE:

A LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

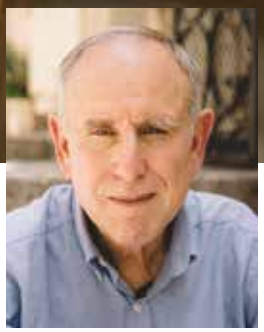
MULTIGENERATIONAL JEWISH EVANGELISM

GLOBAL NEWS BRIEFS

SHALOM AND HAPPY THANKSGIVING!

I love the words of the psalmist who praises the Lord for His goodness and lovingkindness: "You are my God, and I give thanks to You; You are my God, I extol You. Give thanks to the Lord, for He is good; For His lovingkindness is everlasting" (Psalm 118:28–29).

Even amid our struggles, we can praise God for the splendor of His character. He is always good, faithful, merciful, and just! During this season of thanksgiving, we are reminded of all the Lord has enabled us to enjoy, and we can praise Him for what we see. More significantly, we can give thanks for what is often unseen when we focus on the character of God Himself, especially as revealed in the person of Jesus.



FROM THE PRESIDENT, MITCH GLASER

GRATEFUL FOR PEACE

At this moment—after more than two years of death, desperation, and devastation—we have the beginnings of a peace treaty between Israel and Gaza. Hopefully, it will last and extend to other nations that have been carrying out vicious attacks against the Jewish people in the Holy Land. We had been fervently praying for the return of the hostages remaining in Hamas' torture tunnels, and we are rejoicing for those who have been returned—both those who are alive and who have died in captivity. While we recognize that resolving age-old conflicts is often tenuous, we still give thanks to God for what He has done and remain hopeful for a lasting peace.

One of the ways I have tried to remain hopeful during the events spawned by the horrific attacks of Hamas against Israel on October 7, 2023, is by looking toward the future that God promised to both Jewish people and Gentiles through the prophet Isaiah. Allow the words of this prophecy—given more than two-and-a-half millennia ago—to encourage your heart to trust in His promises.

The prophet wrote,

> Now it will come about that in the last days the mountain of the house of the Lord will be established as the chief of the mountains and will be raised above the hills; and all the nations will stream to it. And many peoples will come and say, "Come, let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, to the house of the God of Jacob; that He may teach us concerning His ways and that we may walk in His paths." For the law will go forth from Zion and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem. And He will judge between the nations, and will render decisions for many peoples; and they will hammer their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks. Nation will not lift up sword against nation, and never again will they learn war. (Isaiah 2:2–4)

My dear friend in the Messiah—I believe every word! One day, Jesus the Messiah will return and put an end to war, and we will live in peace. That is the future God has promised and offers to all who make the decision to follow Him!

THE STORY OF REDEMPTION

Some theologians have summarized the story of the Bible in three words: creation, fall, and redemption! God made a perfect world, Adam and Eve sinned, and since then, the Lord has been working to bring His sinful, broken world back to Himself.

The Jewish people are central to the story of redemption. God created the Jewish people for His glory, to be a bridge of redemption to the world, and He sent His only and beloved Son, Jesus—Yeshua, the Jewish Messiah—to purchase our redemption from sin, death, and judgment by His shed blood. The future of Israel and the Jewish people is linked to the decision to put our faith in Yeshua, and then to bring His gospel message back to the original messengers—the Jewish people through whom and to whom Yeshua first came (Romans 11:11)!

This is the heart of the everyday work of Your Mission to the Jewish People.

The decision to follow Messiah changed our lives. We experienced God's peace when we accepted Jesus, and we will enjoy this peace even more when the Prince of Peace returns to reign. Until He comes and establishes a kingdom even more beautiful than Eden, we will face conflict, disappointment, and sometimes tragedy. But by His grace, we will be able to confront the difficulties of life with peace in our hearts.

We look forward to the day when "they will say, 'This desolate land has become like the garden of Eden; and the waste, desolate and ruined cities are fortified and inhabited'" (Ezekiel 36:35).

OUR HEART AND MISSION

Meanwhile, we continue to reach out to Jewish people around the globe. Today, I am thankful for the dedicated staff of Chosen

People Ministries and for their tireless efforts to preach the gospel "to the Jew first and also to the Greek" (Romans 1:16). It is a privilege to lead this wonderful 131-year-old mission to the Jewish people. Allow me to share some reasons why I am filled with gratitude today, and please join me in offering thanksgiving to God for His work through our staff.

I am so grateful for this opportunity to share with you what God is doing through Chosen People Ministries. At the core of everything we do is a passionate commitment to sharing the love of Yeshua with Jewish people worldwide. When I think about His faithfulness and the doors He continues to open, my heart overflows with thanksgiving, and I know our ongoing work, especially in the United States and Israel, will encourage you.

MINISTRY ACROSS AMERICA

Here in the United States, we maintain active branches in major areas including New York City, New Jersey, Philadelphia, southern Florida, Atlanta, Phoenix, Seattle, Boston, and Chicago. But our reach extends far beyond these hubs. We have over seventy dedicated volunteers representing us in dozens of communities nationwide, engaging in evangelism, supporting church ministries, and participating in our national outreach events.

One ministry I'm particularly excited about is our Host Israelis Network, which has grown to over two hundred homes across the country. Imagine Israeli travelers, far from home, being welcomed into Christian and Messianic Jewish homes where they experience genuine love and hospitality—and hear about Yeshua, perhaps for the first time. It is beautiful to watch these relationships develop.

We're also working with university students through our House of Living Waters program. We place young missionaries in apartments near major universities like New York University and Columbia, and we provide them with housing and support so they can build meaningful relationships with Jewish students. One of our leaders in this work is a Russian-Israeli brother we brought from Israel to study at Moody Bible Institute, and now he is engaging the next generation. The impact is multigenerational and eternally significant.

Our camping program continues to thrive, with camps on both coasts serving children and teenagers. What moves me most is seeing our teenagers take ownership of their faith by hosting their own Bible studies online and building community, not just nationally but internationally. This is the next generation of Jewish believers rising up, and it gives me such hope.

We are also privileged to operate several Messianic congregations that we have either planted or are leading in places like Brooklyn, Northern Virginia, Pittsburgh, Southern California, and Minneapolis. These congregations provide spiritual homes for Jewish believers and their families, as well as places where they can worship Yeshua while celebrating their Jewish heritage.

THE HEART OF IT ALL: ISRAEL

Let me share what is happening in Israel because this is where we need to direct so much of our focus and prayer right now.

As you may know, our ministry center in Tel Aviv was struck by an Iranian missile. One side of our building suffered serious damage. It was a brand-new, beautiful facility—four thousand square feet across two stories—and we were just weeks away from receiving our occupancy permits when this happened. The building will take a year to rebuild, and our portion of the repairs will be substantial. We are awaiting confirmation of insurance coverage and potential assistance from the city council, but nothing is certain yet.

But here is what I want you to know: We have not stopped. We are continuing to rent the space nearby, which we have been using for several years. That building also had its windows blown out by the missile, though we are still running our full programs. Our Bible studies and other ministries are continuing as well, and they are a strengthening factor for the body of Messiah within Israel and a powerful outreach for those seeking the Lord during these incredibly difficult times.

Let us pray that the recent peace plan holds and that we can continue to present the gospel to Israelis in the power of the Holy Spirit without the threat of missiles falling around us. Your prayers and support make all the difference in the world!

PLEASE PRAY FOR:

- wisdom and provision as we rebuild our ministry center in Tel Aviv
- protection for our staff in Israel as they minister in a war-ravaged land
- open hearts among Jewish people who are experiencing fear and uncertainty
- boldness and opportunities for our missionaries to share the gospel
- fruit that remains with Jewish people coming to faith and their growth as disciples

We are living in prophetic times. The Lord is faithful to His promises, and He will complete the work He has begun. Until that day when all Israel recognizes their Messiah, we press on, grateful for partners like you who stand with us in this sacred calling.

Thank you for your heart for the Jewish people, and thank you for allowing us to share this incredible journey with you.

Mitch

MULTIGENERATIONAL JEWISH EVANGELISM

(ALL NAMES HAVE BEEN CHANGED TO PROTECT PRIVACY.)

The work of Jewish evangelism is not new. It has been ongoing since Jesus first walked the earth. Chosen People Ministries has been serving Jewish people for the past 131 years. Our ministry endured the Spanish flu, World War I and World War II, the rise and fall of the Soviet Union, the Great Depression, the battles surrounding the formation of Israel in 1948, the Cold War, and more.

During our many years of service, Your Mission to the Jewish People has deeply appreciated multiple generations of families who have supported our ministry and passed along a love for the Jewish people to each generation. We hope the following testimony of one family—who are among many families who have sustained us over the years—will encourage you to pass your passion on to the next generation of Jesus followers, especially in a time of an alarming increase in antisemitism and violence against God's chosen people.

DIXON FAMILY TESTIMONY

For four generations, the Dixon family supported Jewish evangelism, starting with its great-grandfather, Hector. He was a pastor who would always preach about the restoration of Israel. Now, his great-granddaughter works for Chosen People Ministries! We interviewed the family about how their love for Israel began.

Hector was a Baptist preacher in the 1950s, not long after the Second World War and the Holocaust. Hector's daughter, Vivian, remembered the day he preached on Romans 1:16, "For I am not ashamed of the gospel, for it is the power of God for salvation to everyone who believes, to the Jew first and also to the Greek." That sermon, she said, gave her an understanding of the Jewish people as God's chosen people and that Christians are supposed to have God's heart for the Jewish people as well. She said that it "planted a seed that later grew into a heart for Jewish evangelism and a love for Israel and its people." Hector's passion to inspire his congregation to love the Jewish people and share the gospel with them not only deeply impacted Vivian but also her brother, who would later also serve with a Jewish ministry in the Baltimore area.

Vivian had a daughter, Cassidy, who also understood that the Jewish people were special in the eyes of the Lord. Vivian instilled in Cassidy this same heart and burden for the salvation of Israel. Cassidy had a daughter, Sheila, who inherited this same love and passion to see Israel come to faith in Jesus, the Jewish Messiah. Sheila described a core childhood memory in which her mother points out the State of Israel on a map to her while emphasizing its importance. Cassidy said, "See that tiny strip of land there? That is the nation of Israel; they are God's chosen people, and that is where Jesus came from. God loves them very much."

Though she was the youngest, Sheila encouraged the family to support the work of Jewish evangelism through Chosen People Ministries! In college, Sheila joined a Christian organization that focused on Israel. This experience sparked a passion within her and ignited a calling to Jewish ministry, which ultimately led her to work with Chosen People Ministries. Her service with the ministry inspired both her mother and grandmother to financially support Jewish evangelism.

During Chosen People Ministries' most recent tour of Israel, three generations of the Dixon family—Sheila, Cassidy, and Vivian—all traveled together to the Holy Land. They returned from Israel with beautiful testimonies of how their trip to Israel invigorated their heart for Israel and the Jewish people. Over the years, Vivian would say that God has blessed her in many ways for supporting Jewish ministry—spiritually, physically, and oftentimes financially.

TEACHING THE YOUNGER GENERATION

The testimonies of families supporting the work of Jewish evangelism, through organizations like ours, emphasize the importance of teaching children to love Israel and share the gospel with the Jewish people, and provide a valuable lesson to the younger generations. Training children to live for the Lord is encouraged in the Bible. For example, Ephesians 6:4 teaches, "Fathers, do not provoke your children to anger, but bring them up in the discipline and instruction of the Lord." Proverbs 22:6 advises, "Train up a child in the way he should go, even when he is old he will not depart from it."

Raising our kids to know the Lord also means teaching them to share the good news with Jewish people. God cares deeply about reaching the Jewish community, and Paul reminded us of this when he wrote, "For I am not ashamed of the gospel, for it is the power of God for salvation to everyone who believes, to the Jew first and also to the Greek" (Romans 1:16). When we bring up our children in the ways of the Lord, it should include helping them share the love of Jesus, the Jewish Messiah, with Jewish people. God worked in beautiful ways through the Dixon family and others, planting a love for the Jewish people in their hearts that has been passed down from one generation to the next.

ANTISEMITISM AMONG YOUNGER GENERATIONS

For more than a century, Chosen People Ministries has been sharing the good news of the Messiah with Jewish people, and we have witnessed a great deal of history unfold during that time. Antisemitism and false accusations against the Jewish people are nothing new. Our newsletters, dating back to the late 1800s, demonstrate the enduring nature of this hatred. With the alarming rise in antisemitism that we have seen since October 7, 2023, especially among young people, it is more important than ever that we do not repeat the mistakes of the past. Instead, we need to pass on God's heart for Israel to our children and grandchildren along with the calling to share the gospel with His chosen people.

Studies show that both Christian and non-Christian young people, particularly Gen-Z and Millennials, support Israel much less than previous generations and are more likely to hold antisemitic views. According to the latest worldwide survey on antisemitism, published in 2025 by the Anti-Defamation League, "Respondents younger than 35 also have elevated levels of antisemitic sentiments (50 percent), 13 percentage points higher than respondents over 50."[1] While the numbers are less severe among Christians, there is still a demographic disparity of antisemitism and a lack of support for the State of Israel among our younger generation.

These troubling numbers should motivate us to share God's love for His chosen people with our kids and help them catch that same passion for telling Jewish people about Jesus. If we fail in this mission, the growing antisemitism among young people—including young Christians—could have heartbreaking results, including fewer believers reaching out to Jewish people and fewer Jewish people discovering faith in Jesus.

PASSING ALONG A LOVE FOR THE JEWISH PEOPLE

God often plants a seed that takes root in one generation and blooms in the next. When we support sharing the gospel with Jewish people, we are not just reaching them today—we are starting a ripple effect that touches lives across generations, continents, and decades.

The Dixon family's story shows us this beautiful pattern. When one generation embraced Jesus as Messiah, it opened the door for God's salvation, blessing, and provision to flow through their family line for years to come, reaching relatives in different times and places around the world.

Right now, this work matters more than ever. We are seeing younger people—both believers and non-believers—grow increasingly indifferent or even hostile toward Israel and the Jewish people, which is why we need to keep sharing God's love with His chosen people and standing against antisemitism until Jesus returns.

Chosen People Ministries invites you to pass down this heart to the next generation in your own family. It is the same heart that Paul described to the Romans: "Brethren, my heart's desire and my prayer to God for [Israel] is for their salvation" (Romans 10:1). Teach your children and grandchildren about God's deep love for the Jewish people and His call for us to share the good news of the Messiah with His ancient people. What you plant today in their hearts will bear fruit for generations to come.

A BIBLE STUDY WITH RICH FREEMAN, DMin

The Mystery of God's Will
Ephesians 1:9–12 (Part 2)

In Ephesians 1:9, Paul tells us how God will reveal the mystery of His will: "He made known to us the mystery of His will, according to His kind intention which He purposed in Him [the Messiah]." That is the key: The revelation of the mystery of God's will and purpose in the world takes place in Him, the Messiah. God has manifested His wisdom and plan in the life and ministry of Jesus.

Isaiah 35:5–6 is a beautiful messianic passage in which the prophet states that God would come to us, and the result of His coming would be the renewing of creation—the blind will see, the deaf will hear, the lame will leap, and the dumb will sing for joy (Matthew 11:5). In other words, the coming of the Lord would be heralded by a great eruption of healing and joy. That is exactly what happened when Jesus came, and it reveals God's plan and purpose.

In Ephesians 1:10, Paul wrote that God's purpose in history will be fully accomplished, "that is, the summing up of all things in Christ" when it is "suitable to the fullness of the times." History moves in cycles. There are seasons of peace and prosperity, followed by seasons of apathy and lethargy, which can foster calamity and uncertainty and produce times of rebellion and revolution. Then these changes usually bring us back to peace and prosperity, and the cycle begins all over again.

Paul is telling us that the time will come when the seasons and cycles of history will end. At that point, God will have fulfilled His promise to tear down the old creation, utterly destroying it, while simultaneously building up the new. The marvel of God is that He eliminates the old while establishing the new.

When we look at the decay, misery, injustice, and sin around us, we often can only see the destruction of this world. We sometimes forget that God is also constructing a new creation at the same time, on the very same spot. That is how I interpret Paul when he said, "Suitable to the fullness of the times."

While God brought His kingdom into this world, we also participate in manifesting the mystery of God's will. Paul told us, "We have obtained an inheritance, having been predestined according to His purpose . . . to the end that we who were the first to hope in Christ would be to the praise of His glory" (Ephesians 1:11–12). Because of our rich inheritance in Jesus, we are to give all praise and glory to Him. That is our part.

As believers, not only is Jesus our inheritance, but we also are the inheritance of Jesus. Later, Paul expanded on this theme when he said, "I pray that the eyes of your heart may be enlightened, so that you will know what is the hope of His calling, what are the riches of the glory of His inheritance in the saints" (Ephesians 1:18). So, there is a double inheritance in the Christian life: We inherit Jesus and He inherits us. He is our sole source of power, strength, love, wisdom, and truth.

God, through Jesus our Messiah, has chosen us and allowed us to experience the situations we find ourselves in. It pleases Him to bring about His blessings and to weave His perfect plan out of our problems, hurts, and failings—for "we know that God causes all things to work together for good to those who love God, to those who are called according to His purpose" (Romans 8:28). His riches of grace are made evident in our lives, and the mystery of God's will and purpose is revealed in us as we learn to live our lives and endure suffering in the same way our Messiah did for us.

NEWS BRIEFS FROM AROUND THE WORLD

BEACH EVANGELISM

One of our staff members from New Zealand was recently in Israel and had several opportunities to minister to Israeli families and to practice her Hebrew. She spent time with Hebrew speakers who did not speak English, including the mother of Eli,* who our staff member had originally met at the Punakaiki Beach hostel on the west coast of New Zealand.

Our staff member had previously enjoyed several experiences with Eli and his friends back in New Zealand. She took them rock climbing, made challah and hummus with them, and traveled with them on different occasions. It was a pleasure for her to spend that time with them and to share the gospel and show them the unconditional love of Yeshua (Jesus).

When the staff member visited Israel, Eli was excited for her to meet his family and try his mother's cooking. Meeting his mom and sister was a true pleasure and honor, and the food certainly did not disappoint! Eli's family are Yemenite Jews, and our staff member tried several of their traditional foods. She now has a standing date with Eli's mom to learn how to cook some of their favorites. Eli's mother does not speak much English, which made their communication both fun and challenging. Our staff views it as a true honor to be invited into the homes of this sweet family and have the chance to share the love of Yeshua with them.

HOSTING ISRAELIS

One of our hosts in the United States recently hosted a delightful Israeli family, who stayed with them twice. The first visit was for three nights. The second stay was for only one night as they prepared to head to the airport to return to Israel. They were respectful in all of the conversations and, before they left the first time, stated how everyone they have stayed with during their travels has shared the same things with them. They added that they have learned a lot about the history of their own Jewish people and what the Hebrew Scriptures has to say about Israel. They acknowledged "someone" guiding them and meeting all of their needs at every turn. When they returned for the second visit, they had a deeper conversation. Aaron* even stated that, after hearing everything the hosts said, "Yeshua is the Messiah." Praise the Lord! He said he needs to look into this matter further, but someone had shared I*saiah 53 Explained* with him, and he had begun to read it. Shana* also stated that she wanted to know more. Please pray for this precious Israeli family.

DOZENS OF JEWISH PEOPLE HEAR THE GOSPEL IN NEW YORK

God blessed our Shalom New York campaign this summer. Our teams held dozens of gospel conversations with Israelis and other Jewish people.

While speaking with Israelis, one of our teams respectfully shared how they love the God of Israel, the people of Israel, and Yeshua—the Messiah and Savior of Israel! Many of those conversations ended with the Israelis hugging members of our team, thanking them, and taking their literature about messianic prophecies!

One member of our staff and a teammate also talked for an hour with three Orthodox Jewish people studying to become rabbis. Our staff shared about the Jewishness of the New Testament and how the "Last Supper" was a Passover meal. One of the rabbinical students asked them for a New Testament in Hebrew!

Our staff also met a Christian man in Union Square Park who told them he was praying to God for help sharing the gospel with Jewish people. They agreed it was a divine appointment!

At another local park, God brought an Iranian Jewish man and a Jewish lady who works at New York University to speak with our staff. Our team had amazing conversations about God and Yeshua with these two Jewish people. One staff member has already begun following up with them.

During another encounter in a subway station, a precious Jewish lady became very upset about the idea that God could have a son. Our staff member showed her Proverbs 30:4 ("What is His name or His son's name?"), and she was stunned. They then spent time looking at Jewish commentaries and translations. Our staff member also shared his testimony and some other prophecies. They finished the conversation with hugs and tears in their eyes! Our staff member is looking forward to speaking with her again.

Passing Down Your Heart for Jewish Evangelism and Wise Giving

As we enter this season of thanksgiving and generosity, we are deeply grateful for you. Your faithful support helps us share the good news that Jesus is the Jewish Messiah—and many of you are passing this legacy on to your children and grandchildren. Thank you!

Each year, we receive generous gifts from friends like you—and each one makes such a difference. As you plan your year-end giving, remember that by giving non-cash assets rather than cash, you can often realize substantial tax advantages that will greatly benefit both your family and the ministry.

Giving your non-cash assets (such as stock, real estate, business interests, commodities, or machinery) can:

- Reduce your taxes. Receive a deduction for the fair market value at the time of your gift and avoid the tax liability on the sale of appreciated assets.
- Simplify your life. Give assets you no longer need or care to manage for the benefit of Chosen People Ministries.
- Increase your giving capacity. Give more (from your excess resources) without restricting cash flow.
- Lighten the load for your heirs. Reduce potential taxes or complications for your loved ones by giving complex assets to ministry rather than leaving them in your estate.
- Inspire and instruct future generations. By giving generously and wisely, you can show your children and grandchildren what it means to give with purpose and faith.

Now through December, consider all of your available options for giving to Chosen People Ministries, particularly those that will reduce your taxes, greatly advance Jewish evangelism, and help us share Jesus, the light of the world, with the lost sheep of Israel. To learn more, contact Cindy Forbes at (212) 223-2292, ext. 1208, or at cforbes@chosenpeople.com.

MESSIANIC RESOURCES

We often find it difficult to share the gospel with those we do not know well or feel we do not understand. This manual, How to Introduce your Jewish Friends to the Messiah, will help you reach Jewish people with the message of salvation! A must read. PRICE: $9.95US

Many Christians are fearful of engaging in conversations about their faith with Jewish people knowing that there are complex issues and suspicions that lie deep beneath the surface—and yet there are many points of contact, and much common ground. This manual, Engaging with Jewish People, will make it easier for you to share about the Messiah with your Jewish friends. PRICE: $14.95US

Learn more about Israel, the Jewish people, and the biblical purpose of their chosenness in this short booklet God's Plan and Purposes for the Jewish People. Understanding God's everlasting covenant with Abraham will give you a deeper understanding of the biblical narrative and God's faithfulness to keep all of His promises. PRICE: $7.95US
