Two sides of reality

It has been three years since the October 7 Hamas-led attack, the deadliest in Israel's history and the deadliest day for Jewish people since the Holocaust. Some 1,200 people were killed, including women, children, and the elderly; thousands were wounded, and more than 250 were taken hostage.

In 2025, I and about 60 other Chosen People Ministries representatives visited Sderot and the Re'im Grove in Be'eri Forest, where the Nova Music Festival had taken place. Bullet holes scarred buildings in Sderot, while photos, flowers, and memorabilia at the festival site expressed profound grief and love for those who perished.

We walked in silence through the site, many with tears, and said prayers for the victims' families. For me, the experience was comparable only to my visits to Auschwitz and Dachau. My youngest son, Daniel, was with me. Like many, he was left with difficult questions.

May the God of all comfort draw near to those who lost loved ones. May they find hope, love, forgiveness, and salvation in Yeshua, the Jewish Messiah.

Last month, at Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, we confessed our sins before God and asked His forgiveness. This month, at Canadian Thanksgiving, we count our blessings and thank the Lord. Gratitude must be learned, practised, and expressed to God and others. Let us acknowledge our blessings, including life, health, family, friends, home, work, and community. Above all, let's thank God for salvation in Jesus, forgiveness, eternal life, and the Holy Spirit's comfort, joy, and peace, even in very difficult times (Psalm 136:1; 1 Thess. 5:18).

Your partnership in Jewish evangelism and missions means so much. May the Lord bless you!

Until all Israel is saved,

Jorge Sedaca

STORIES OF IMPACT

Carmel Logos Baptist Church missions event

Three members of our team participated in the missions event at Carmel Logos Baptist Church in Toronto, September 25–27. We advocated for Jewish evangelism, promoted the Oppose Antisemitism campaign, and showed the many resources we offer on relevant topics. On the Sunday, about 100 people attended the event.

Our very own Lean Hope Cangrejo spoke to children and young teens about why Jewish evangelism is important. These young people had many “aha” moments as they began to understand the Jewish roots of their faith. Planting these seeds is essential to raise up the next generation of people eager to do Jewish evangelism. (Lean is pictured at right, explaining the meaning of the sukkah and God’s faithfulness to His people Israel.)

COME MEET US IN NOVEMBER! The Canadian Missions Society Conference 2026

We’ll be at the Canadian Missions Society Conference this year, exhibiting over the two-day event, and providing a speaker.

Jorge Sedaca, Executive Director of Chosen People Ministries Canada, will speak on “The Urgency of Jewish Evangelism” on Saturday, November 14, 11:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon, in Room 4 of the venue.

'Tis the season to...start planning for Jewish evangelism!

Unless you have a strong gift for evangelism, making the most of opportunities to bring the Gospel to others requires preparation and planning.

One of those opportunities is coming up soon. The Festival of Lights, also known as Hanukkah, will begin at sundown on Friday, December 4, and end at nightfall on Saturday, December 12.

Now is the time to start planning so you're ready in the lead-up to the holiday season to share the Gospel with the Jewish people in your life.

STEP 1

Prepare yourself by gaining a deeper understanding of the Jewish mindset. Whether secular or religious, Jewish people usually have in common certain preconceptions, attitudes, and objections. Knowing where to start and how to avoid unnecessary "triggers" is essential.

STEP 2

Practice with a friend to see how you can address objections and answer questions. It's not about being perfect, but not being "thrown" by questions, objections, and strong opinions. Jewish people have a saying, "Where there are two Jewish people, there are three opinions." Welcome debate and questions.

STEP 3

Have a physical takeaway ready that you can give, or be ready to point them to an online resource. We have many such resources available. Be sure to order now so you have a resource on hand to send or give away this season. See the list shown at the right.

STEP 4

Pray for the Holy Spirit, Ruach HaKodesh, to prepare the way for you. He will open opportunities for you to share Jesus, Yeshua, with your Jewish friends, and give you a sense of what to say at the right time.

STEP 5

Be bold when the opportunity arrives. His word never returns void!

RECOMMENDED RESOURCES

Introducing Your Jewish Friends to Yeshua

Co-authored by one of our missionaries, this booklet will help you prepare for more effective Jewish evangelism. Available at our online store in both English and French.

Share Your Faith

Get practical tips and suggestions for sharing your faith with a Jewish person from this page of our website. bit.ly/4rTyHcm

Isaiah 53 Explained

Did you know many Jewish people have never read this chapter of Isaiah? They are often shocked and amazed to learn that this striking portrait of Messiah is found in the Hebrew Bible.

Available at our online store in English, French, and more.

IFoundShalom.com

This website features more than 100 testimonies, with new stories added regularly. It helps a Jewish person see that you can be a follower of Jesus and be Jewish.

Messianic Calendar for 2026-2027 and Jewish evangelism

Based on the I Found Shalom website, this calendar covers September 2026 through September 2027.

Each month features the true story of a Jewish person who found shalom in Jesus the Messiah. These stories are linked to full video testimonies at ifoundshalom.com. New testimonies are being added to this website all the time.

An excellent evangelistic resource, for yourself and those you know who still need to hear the Gospel.
